Association Formed

For some time past there has been an agitation among the young men in town for the formation of an athletic club. On Monday night a meeting was held in the News office and a society was formed to be known as the Bowden Athletic Association.

The Association aims to provide amusement for the winter months and also keep their club rooms open for the benefit of its members in the afternoon and evenings. Physical exercises such as boxing, wrestling, dumb bells, Indian clubs and etc will be promoted by the association for the younger members while writing tables, magazine newspapers and games will be supplied for the use of the older members who do not care for this class of amusements. An association of this kind should enable its members to pass away many long evenings, farmers, who will be welcome as members, will have a place to spend the time when they come on their long trips to town this winter.

As the financing of the undertaking will be the greatest difficulty, that will be met Mr C J Sorensen has kindly offered the use of the old News office as a club house for one month free of charge and if necessary will prolong the offer. The membership fee was fixed at $1 and dues at the rate of 10c a month will be charged afterwards. The opening night was set for September 20th to which everyone is urgently requested to attend. The committee appointed to draft the rules and regulations will present them for the approval of the association and new members will be enrolled at this meeting. The following officers were elected:

Hon-President: C J Sorensen
Vice-President: E J Buchanan
President: T J Lancaster
Treasurer: T C Coldwell
Secretary: H H McKim
Managing com. Wilson, Anderson and Stinson
Regulation com.: Sorensen, S Butler, Lancaster, McKim and Coldwell

"Thou Shalt Not Steal"

"Thou shalt not steal" is a God given commandment. Stealing does not consist in the quantity or quality of the goods stolen but in the simple act of appropriating to yourself something which does not belong to you. Those who have been pilfering for some time past from the station please take notice. If you are in urgent need of such articles as lamps, inkwells, paper racks, etc just tell the public so and they will probably find some means of helping you out. Don't descend to the level of a common thief it is not worth while.

A Red-letter Day

Wednesday September 28th 1910 will go down in the annals of this community as the day the Bowden Agricultural Society offered to the public an exhibition of agricultural and home products whose value as an educational benefactor will be second to none in Alberta.

As the time grows shorter, and the date draws nearer the demands for prize lists and other information are pouring, with every mail to the secretary, H E Senfield, who is the busiest man in the world these days. The interest that is being taken can do nothing but assure the success of the fair to a degree that will far surpass the highest expectations of the most optimistic.

On Saturday night last a meeting of the Board of Directors was held and made the final arrangements for the day. All the special officers, stewards and committees for the day were appointed and very favorable reports heard from the different committees. The Sports committee have compiled a very interesting program of athletic events and have awarded good prizes for the winners. The Bowden Brass Band will supply music for the day, making its first public appearance since its re-organization.

Prizes for sheep have been added to the stock exhibit department.

On page ten will be found the minutes of the directors meeting held Saturday evening. Read them and you will see that the slightest detail has not been omitted.

The Best Liver Pill.—The action of the liver is easily disarranged. A sudden chill, undue exposure to the elements, over-indulgence in some favorite food, excess in drinking, are a few of the causes. But whatever may be the cause, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be relied upon as the best corrective that can be taken. They are the leading liver pills and they have no superiors among such preparations.

Nothing shocks a girl of 20 so much as to think what if she were 30; nothing pleases a girl of 30 so much as to think she isn't 31.

Shiloh's Cure

It's up to the man who thinks that only an angel is good enough to become his wife to remain in the bachelor class.

Comfort for the Dyspeptic.—There is no ailment so harassing and exhausting as dyspepsia, which arises from defective action of the stomach and liver, and the victim of it is to be pitied. Yet he can find ready relief in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, a preparation that has established itself by years of effective use. These are pills that are widely advertised as the greatest ever compounded, but not one of them can rank in value with Parmelee's.

Boys will be boys, and even some girls are boisterous.

Bank Clerks Inadequately Paid.

There's a shortage of bank clerks, and a Montreal bank is adopting the expedient of employing women for minor positions. Within the past few years some of the banks have brought out young Scotchmen to fill the gap.

But the trouble seems to be the inadequate salaries paid to young men to adopt banking as their vocation. There has been an improvement in this direction, but the increases have not kept pace with the cost of living. Hundreds of young men are resigning from employment in banks to go into farming, and they are adopting other pursuits offering greater advantages in the way of salary.

After ten years' service in a bank and reaching the responsible position of teller, a young man may be rewarded with a salary of $1,000 a year. Surely this is inadequate. Many of the tellers are required to handle millions of dollars a day for $1,200 a year and even less money. The "honorary" of a bricklayer or a plumber is even more princely.

Considering the heavy responsibilities of a teller's position he is entitled to a fair share of the dividends of a banking business.—Toronto World.

BABY'S TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Hands Tied to Prevent Scratching.

Five Doctors Failed to Relieve, but Zam-Buk Worked a Cure.

Mrs. Shas. Levere, of Prescott, North Channel, Ont., tells how Zam-Buk cured her baby. She says: "My baby's head and face was one complete mass of sores. The itching and irritation were fearful, and the little one's plight was so serious that at one time we feared her ears would be eaten off by the disease."

"We had to keep her hands tied for days to prevent her rubbing and scratching the sores. Doctor after doctor treated her in vain, until we had five doctors. They all agreed it was a frightful case of eczema, but none of them did any permanent good. As a last resource we were advised to try Zam-Buk. The first box did so much good that we felt sure we were at last working in the right direction. We persevered with the treatment until we had used thirteen boxes, and at the end of that time I am glad to say Zam-Buk had effected a complete cure."

Mrs. Holmes, of 30 Guise street, Hamilton, is quite as eloquent in her praise. She says: "Zam-Buk cured my boy of boils and eruptions when he was so bad that he had been unable to mix with other children. Zam-Buk is a wonderful preparation, and mothers throughout the land should always keep it handy."

For eczema, eruptions, rashes, tetters, ringworm, and similar skin diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, scalds, piles, abscesses, chronic sores, blood poisoning, etc. All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Refuse imitations.

To show the absurdity of Swedenborg's ideas the preacher drew a graphic account of the supposed Swedenborgian heaven, with beautiful fields, fine horses, cows, etc. In the midst of his glowing description one of the sisters went into raptures and shouted, "Glory, glory, glory!"
"Hold on there, sister!" said the preacher. "You're shouting over the wrong heaven!"—Success.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer complaints, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

A Toronto journalist was spending some days in Northern Quebec where he desired to air his knowledge of French. He arrived at a small inn where the occasional tourist found a resting-place. There was a waitress of the heavy-footed order, who attended sullenly upon a table of hungry sportsmen.

"Avez-vous des pommes de terre?" asked the Toronto man in such French as he could muster. There was no response. Once again he said pompously, "Avez-vous des pommes de terre?"
The girl looked with impatience upon the would-be Gaul and said angrily: "Aw, go on—what's de matter wid the potatoes?"

A Kindly Act.

A Canadian gentleman of benevolent tendencies was approached by an impoverished friend—say Smith—who declared that a little financial assistance "would set him on his feet." Smith was of the artistic temperament and in no time was spending the little loan in riotous living.

His benefactor was amazed one day to behold Smith riding a spirited steed and altogether having a most enjoyable time.
"Confound Smith," said the benefactor testily. "I wish I'd never lent the fellow a cent. I don't mind putting a man on his feet, but I certainly do not bargain for setting him on horseback."

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR
M'GUTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"We finally got to the edge of the cliff and unearthed the rope, which we already had fastened to the trunk of a tree. I was obliged to carry Neenah for the last quarter of a mile, poor little girl. She was tied to my back, leaving my throat and chest free, and down we came. Simplest thing in the world. Presto! Here am I with my happy family at my heels."

"Well, we can't sit here and dawdle all day!" exclaimed Deppingham. "We must be moving about—arrange our batteries and all that, don't you know. We've got to stave these devils off for two or three weeks at least, and we'll have to look sharp. Browne, that's the third cup of coffee you've had. Come along! This isn't Boston."

As they left the breakfast room Chase stepped to Geneva's side and walked with her. At the foot of the stairs, where they were to part, she extended her hand, a bright smile in her eyes.

"You were and are very brave and good," she said. He withheld his hand, and she dropped hers, hurt and strangely vexed. "Don't you care for my approval, or do you?"

"You forget, princess, that my hands are still suffering from the bravery you would have," he said, holding them resolutely behind his back.

"Oh, I remember!" she cried in quick comprehension. "They were cut and bruised by the rope. How thoughtless of me! What are you doing for them? Come, Mr. Chase, may I not dress them for you? I am capable—I am not afraid of wounds. We have had many of them in our family, and fatal ones too." She was eager now and earnest.

He shook his head with a smile on his lips. "I thank you. They are better, much better, and they have been quite properly bandaged already."

"Neenah?"

"Yes," he replied gently. She seemed to search his mind with a quick, intense look into his eyes. Then she smiled and said, "I'll promise not to bruise the wounds if you'll only be so good as to shake hands with me."

He took her slender hand in his broad, white swathed palm and pressed it fervently regardless of the pain which would have caused him to cringe if engaged in any other pursuit. There was no longer any doubt as to the intentions of the disappointed islanders. Von Blitz and Itusula had convinced them that their cause was seriously jeopardized. They were made to see the necessity for permanently removing the white pretenders from their path.

Deppingham, on account of his one time position in the British army, was chosen chief officer of the beleaguered "citadel." A strict espionage was set upon the native servants despite Ballo's assurances of loyalty. Lookouts were posted in the towers, and a ceaseless watch was to be kept day and night. Chase on his first visit to the west tower discovered a long unused searchlight of powerful dimensions. Fortunately for the besieged, the electric light plant was located in the chateau grounds and could not be tampered with from the outside.

Britt was put in charge of the night patrol. Saunders the day. Selim under orders had severed the long rope with a single rifle shot. No one could hope to reach the chateau by way of the cliff.

Extra precautions were taken to guard the women from attacks from the inside. The window bars were locked securely, and heavy bolts were placed on the doors leading to the lower regions. It was now only too apparent that Skaggs and Wyckhoime had wrought well in anticipation of a rebellion by the native shareholders. Each window had its adjustable grates; every outer door was protected by heavy iron gates.

By nightfall Deppingham's forces were in full possession of every advantage that their position afforded.

Chase came from his room, still stiff and sore, but with fresh, white bandages on his blistered hands. He asked and received permission to light a cigarette and then dropped wearily into a seat near the princess, who sat upon the stone railing. Her trim, graceful figure was outlined against the darkness. A delicate, sensuous fragrance exhaled from her person, filling him with an indescribable delight and anguish; the spell of her beauty was upon him, and he felt the leap of his blood.

"If I were you," he said at last, reluctant to despoil the picture, "I wouldn't sit up there. It would be a very simple matter for one of our friends to pick you off with a shot from below. Please let me pull up a chair for you."

She smiled languidly, without a trace of uneasiness in her manner.

"Dear officer of the day, do you think they are so foolish as to pick us off in parties? Not at all. They will dispose of us wholesale, not by the piece. By the way, has Neenah been made quite comfortable?"

"I believe so. She and Selim have the room beyond mine, thanks to Lady Deppingham."

"Agnes tells me that she is very interesting—quite like a princess out of a fairy book. You recall the princesses who were always being captured by ogres and evil princes and afterward satisfactorily rescued by those dear knights admirable? Did Selim steal her in the beginning?"

"You forget the pot of sapphires and the big ruby."

"They say that princesses can be bought very cheaply."

"Depends entirely upon the quality of princess you desire. It's very much like buying rare gems or old paintings. I'd say. Speaking of princesses and ogres, has it occurred to you that you would bring a fortune in the market?"

"Mr. Chase!"

"You know, it's barely possible that you may be put in a matrimonial shop window if Von Blitz and his friends should capture you alive. Ever think of that?"

"Good heavens! You—why, what a horrible thing to say!"

"You won't bring as much in the south-sea market as you would in Rapp-Thorberg or Paris, but I dare say you could be sold for—"

"Please, Mr. Chase, don't suggest anything so atrocious," she cried, something like terror in her voice.

"Neenah's father sold her for a handful of gems," said he, with distinct meaning in his voice. She was silent, and he went on after a moment. "Is there so much difference, after all, where one is sold, just so long as the price is satisfactory to all concerned?"

"You are very unkind, Mr. Chase," she said with quiet dignity. "I do not deserve your sarcasm."

"I humbly plead for forgiveness," he said, suddenly contrite. "It was beastly."

"American wit, I imagine you call it," she said scornfully. "I don't care to talk with you any longer."

"Won't you forgive me? I'm a poor brute—don't lash me. In two or three weeks I'll step down and out of your life; that will be plenty enough, don't you think?"

"For whom?" she asked in a voice so low that he could scarcely hear the words. Then she laughed ironically. "I do forgive it. It is all that a prince or a princess is ever asked to do. I'm beginning to believe. I also forgive you for coming into my life."

"If I had been a trifle more intelligent I should not have come into it at all," he said. She turned upon him quickly, stung by the remark.

"Is that the way you feel about it?" she asked sharply.

"You don't understand. A man of intelligence would never have kicked Prince Karl. As a matter of fact, in trying to kick Prince Karl out of your life I kicked myself into it. A very simple process, and yet scarcely intellectual. A jackass could have done as much."

"A jackass may kick at a king," she paraphrased casually. "A cat may only look at him. But let us go back to realities. Do you mean to tell me that they—these wretches—would dare to sell me—us, I mean—into the kind of slavery you mention?"

"Why not?" he asked soberly, arising and coming quite close to her side. "You are beautiful. If they should take you alive it would be a very simple matter for any one of these men to purchase you from the others. You might easily be kept on this island for the rest of your days and the world would be none the wiser, or you could be sold into Persia or Arabia or Turkey. I am not surprised that you shudder. Von Blitz and Itusula mean to destroy all of us. We are to disappear from the face of the earth."

When our friends come to look for us we will have died from the plague and our bodies will have been burned, as they always are in Japan. There will be no one left to deny the story. After tomorrow no ship is due to put in here for three weeks. They will see to it that none of us get out to that ship, nor will the ship's officers know of our peril. The word will go forth that the plague has come to the island. That is the first step, your highness. But there is one obstacle they have overlooked," he concluded. She looked up inquiringly.

"My warships," he said, the whimsical smile broadening.

CHAPTER XIX.

THE PLAGUE IS ANNOUNCED.

THE next morning a steamship flying the English flag came to anchor off Ararat, delivered and received mail bags and after an hour's stay steamed away in the drift of the southeast trade winds—

Bombay to Cape Colony. The men at the chateau gazed longingly, helplessly through their glasses at this black hulled visitor from the world they loved. They watched it until nothing was left to be seen except the faint cloud of smoke that went to a pin point in the horizon. There had been absolutely no opportunity to communicate with the officers of the ship. They sailed away hurriedly, as if in alarm. Their haste was significant.

"Perhaps Howies succeeded in getting a word with the officer who came ashore," said Browne hopefully. "He knows the dinner we are in."

"My dear Browne, Howies hadn't the ghost of a chance to communicate with the ship," said Chase. "He can't bully 'em any longer with his Tommy Atkins coat. They're outgrown it, just as he has. It was splendid while it lasted, but they're no more afraid of it now than they are of my warships. I wish there was some way to get him and his English assistants into the chateau. It's awful to think of what is coming to them sooner or later."

"Is there no way to help them?" groaned Deppingham.

"I'll never forget poor Bowles the first time I saw him in his dinky red jacket and that hoodigan cap of his," reflected Chase, as if he had not heard Deppingham's remark. "He put them on and tried to overawe the crowd that night when I was threatened in the market place. He did his best, poor chap, and I—"

"Look!" exclaimed Britt suddenly, pointing toward one of the big gates in the upper end of the park. "I believe they're making an attack!"

The next instant the men in the balcony were leaving it pell-mell, picking up the ever ready rifles as they dashed off through the halls and out into the park. They kept themselves as well covered as possible by the boxed trees, although up to this time there had been no shooting.

"Chase, in advance, suddenly gave vent to a loud cry and boldly dashed out into the open, disregarding all shelter. Two of the native park patrol were hastening toward the gate from another direction. Outside the huge, barred gate a throng of men and women were congregated. Some of the men were vigorously slashing away at the bars with sledge and crowbars; others were crouching with rifles leveled in the other direction!

"It's Bowles!" shouted Chase eagerly.

The situation at once became clear to those inside the walls. Bowles and his friends, a score all told, had managed to reach the upper gate and were now clamoring for admission, bristling on all sides by the enemy's pickets.

"For God's sake, be quick!" shouted Bowles. "There's a thousand of them coming up the mines road!"

The gates were unlocked by the patrol, and the panic stricken throng tumbled through them and scattered like sheep behind the high, sheltering walls. Once more the massive gates were closed and the bolts thrown down just in time to avoid a fusillade of bullets from the outside.

Once inside the chateau the fugitives, shivering with terror, fairly collapsed. There were three Englishmen in the party besides Bowles, and Chase recognized the Persian wives of Jacob von Blitz among the women who had been obliged to cast their lot with the refugees from Ararat. The sister of Neenah and five or six other women who had been sold into the island made up the remainder of the little group of trembling females.

A MOUNTAIN FEUDETTE.

There's a little town named Dingess in the West Virginia hills. Where there used to be some Hatfields And a frequency of kills. And a twinging memory tells me Once a maid resided there With a face like a Madonna And a wealth of sun gold hair.

She was deftly waiting table When I met her face to face, And she took me instant captive With her modest rural grace. Though I wooed her all that summer, Every smile a flood of joy, In the end she threw me over And eloped with Bill McCoy.

There were mighty lively doings For a month or something more, There were nightly shooting matches And of funerals a score, And the whole world heard of Dingess, In the West Virginia hills. Where there used to be some Hatfields And a frequency of kills. —Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

THE EARTH AS A MOON.

Our World as It Appears to Venus and Our Own Moon.

If we could be transported to the planet Venus a peculiar set of views could be obtained of our earth which would enable us to see ourselves, to some extent at least, as others see us. Venus is about the same size as the earth, is somewhat closer to the sun and has more atmosphere than the earth. When the earth and Venus are nearest together they are, of course, on the same side of the sun, and in consequence of this the earth does not see more than a very small part of the Venus illuminated, but Venus, on the other hand, sees all of one side of the earth illuminated and consequently is able to claim she has something that takes the place of a moon anyhow, for the earth to Venus at this time looks very large and bright, almost as much so as our moon does to us.

If we could see all the illuminated surface of Venus on these occasions we should have quite a distinct second moon. When we do see all of her illuminated surface she is on the opposite side of the sun from us and consequently at an enormous distance, yet she is so brilliant as to keep us from seeing her surface distinctly.

But to our own moon we appear in the best light as a moon. A full earth as seen from the moon, according to Professor Todd and other astronomers, is a very inspiring sight on the moon's surface. It can at once be seen why this is necessarily true. The earth is several times larger than the moon and would appear in the heavens as a disk about fourteen times the size of the moon. It would shine with probability as bright as our sun.

The Tip Situation in Berlin.

Things have come to such a pass in Berlin that it is suggested the police be called upon to regulate the gratuities one shall give in a restaurant. The Berlin waiters' association is considering a proposal to fix a scale that shall set 12 per cent as the tip for orders under 75 cents and 10 per cent on orders for more than that amount. The newspapers are in a fever of discussion, with the prevailing opinion that the public must be reconciled to present conditions. Incidents are related in which restaurant patrons who have given small tips have had the money flung in their faces or have been made the object of abusive language from the voracious waiters. The proprietors are accused of fostering the tip hunger and of collecting a percentage of the waiters' tip receipts.

New British Island.

Off the northwest coast of Australia there is an island which till recently belonged to no one. It is not a very large island—in fact, it measures only 385 yards by 30 yards. It has, however, a good anchorage, and for that reason its possession may at some time be valuable. The British government has therefore annexed the island, and an official notification of the fact recently reached the commonwealth minister for external affairs. The new British possession is known as Carter Island and is almost surrounded by coral reefs. —Westminster Gazette.

What Traveler Saw Abroad.

"So you think the Bluffers are fakings about their extended European tour?"

"I should say so. They said there were so many Americans in Venice that many had to walk in the middle of the street."

"Well?"

"Why, the streets of Venice are canals." —Springfield Union.

China's Advancement

After prayerful consideration and having consulted all the oracles from Confucius to the present day, the elder statesmen of China have decided that the boy emperor may wear his shirt tucked into the waistband of his "pants" as he grows up. Here is another proof that the spirit of innovation is abroad in the Flowery Kingdom. The lethargic giant is awakening from a sleep of 2,000 years.

HOW ONE WOMAN REGAINED HEALTH

Utterly Helpless and Friends Did Not Expect Her to Get Better

The great fame of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they have restored to active health and strength hundreds of people when all other treatment had failed to cure, and who had come to believe themselves hopeless, chronic invalids. The case of Mrs. Henry Britton, 1284 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, Man., adds another striking proof to the truth of this assertion. Mr. Britton writes as follows concerning his wife's long illness and ultimate cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "It is a simple thing to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and yet it is difficult to express fully one's heartfelt gratitude for such a marvellous remedy, as they have restored my wife to health and strength after the best efforts of the medical fraternity had failed. For years prior to our coming to Canada, and since that time up to about three years ago, my wife had been subject to severe illnesses from what the doctors said was chronic anaemia. She was utterly and entirely helpless, and so weak that she had to be lifted in and out of bed for weeks at a stretch. The trouble was aggravated by recurrent rheumatism and heart trouble. She had no appetite or strength for anything. I employed the best medical attendance and nurses procurable. The doctor gave her tonics and ordered beef tea and wine. The tonics and medicine would relieve her for a time, and then she would slip back once more into the old state—but worse if anything. Then we began giving her advertised remedies, but all seemed of no avail. One evening while reading a newspaper I happened to see an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It told the case of a young woman who had been a great sufferer from anaemia, and who testified to having been cured through the use of these Pills. The case seemed to describe very closely the symptoms of my wife, and although I had pretty nearly lost all hope of her ever being well again, I decided to get a supply of the Pills and urged her to use them. My wife was thoroughly disheartened, and said she expected it was only another case of money thrown away. However, she began taking the Pills, and I thank God she did, for after she had used them for a time, she felt they were helping her. From that time on her appetite came back, her color began to return, and she who had been looked upon as a helpless invalid began to take a new interest in life. She continued taking the Pills, and through them her health continued to improve, until at last we were able to heartily congratulate her upon her complete restoration to health. Some three years have since passed, and in that time she has never been bothered in the slightest degree with the old trouble. The cure has astonished everyone who knew how ill she had been, and we acknowledge with heartfelt thanks our gratitude to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which literally brought her back to health from the brink of the grave."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure such cases as this in just one way—they actually make new blood, which fills the depleted veins and brings new strength to every nerve and every organ in the body. Nearly all the everyday ailments of life come from poor or watery blood, and it is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new blood that they cure anaemia, indigestion, headaches, sideaches and backaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, general weakness and the ailments that growing girls and women do not like to talk about, even to their doctors. If you are weak, sick or ailing, no other medicine will cure you so quickly as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

C.N. TO ENTER CALGARY

TROUBLE BETWEEN C. N. R. AND C. P. R. NOW AT AN END

Mackenzie and Mann may Rush Construction of Line Into Calgary—Law Suits in Dispute Will All Be Dropped—Litigation Arose from C. N. R. Interfering with Rosebud Valley Irrigation Ditch.

Calgary.—The trouble between the Canadian Northern and the Canadian Pacific is at an end and the first named road will be rushed into Calgary with all the speed possible. This is the result of a second conference between representatives of the Canadian Northern and J. S. Dennis, assistant to the vice president of the Canadian Pacific, at the conclusion of which Mr. Dennis handed out the following official statement:

"At a second conference, held recently between representatives of the Canadian Northern and J. S. Dennis, assistant to the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific railway, a further agreement was reached in compliance with the provisional order of the board of railway commissioners, under which the C. N. R. are allowed to continue the construction of their limit of the agreement concluded between these railroads on the 20th inst., through the irrigation block of the Canadian Pacific railroad into the city of Calgary.

With the signing of this agreement the Canadian Northern railway, which for the past three months has been unsuccessfully attempting to force its line through the irrigation block, will be rushed forward into Calgary.

It is now three months ago that the C. P. R. made the first move in the matter of stopping the Canadian Northern from damaging their irrigation works in the Rosebud valley district. At that time many people openly accused the C. P. R. of trying to keep the work of the Canadian Northern held back, but from the celerity with which everything was arranged once the officials of the two roads got together, this story would appear to be properly refuted.

"If we had been approached by the Canadian Northern in the first place and a proper agreement made, there would have been no trouble at all," said a C. P. R. official.

"As it was the C. N. R. went ahead and tried to force their way over our property, making no provision for the protection of our irrigation ditch or for proper bridges and structures over same, and we were compelled to take steps to protect ourselves. Since then we have got together and made an agreement that fully protects us and is satisfactory to the C. N. R., so their work will be rushed ahead now and Calgary will be benefited."

It was because the two companies did not get together that the C. P. R. found it necessary to take out an injunction against the C. N. R., compelling them to stop work about three months ago and when this failed they swore out information against the contractors and subcontractors for damages and trespass.

While this second litigation was going through the courts, the board of railway commissioners stepped in and about the middle of last month made a request to the officials of the two companies to hold a conference and try and agree on a settlement for the construction of that part of the C. N. R. line from mileage 175 to mileage 206. The conference was held and an agreement covering this part of the line was signed by J. S. Dennis and the C. N. R. engineers. The agreement was signed on the 20th inst., the last day given by the railway board for the settlement of the dispute as to this part of the line, who had advised both companies that they would reach an amicable settlement.

After the settlement of the first part of the line under dispute was arranged the board issued a further provisional order asking the representatives of the two companies to get together again on an agreement for that part of the line from mileage 206 to the city of Calgary. This time the contestants were given until Saturday, August 27, to settle the dispute, but they settled it three days ahead of time when they signed the agreement.

The agreement which provides for the protection of the C. N. R. canals and the erection of proper bridges, culverts and structures of all kinds, marks the end of the dispute, as the cases against the contractors and subcontractors will probably be dropped on the payment of the costs incurred so far by the defendant, who are said to be still liable for trespass, as the agreement did not go into effect until August 30.

The signing of the agreement which allows the work to be proceeded with at once is looked upon very favorably by all the business men of the city, as the failure of the two companies to get together amicably would have meant that the matter would have had to be referred to Ottawa and back countless times, and that the work on the new road would have been delayed considerably.

Population of Toronto

Toronto.—The assessment of the city just completed shows the population is about 351,000, an increase of 28,000 during the past year. While the assessors are believed to do their work properly and carefully, it is always felt around the city hall that their population figures average 5 per cent. less than the actual number, and it is, therefore, considered reasonable, allowing for this, to put the present population of Toronto at 370,000.

VERY ENCOURAGING REPORTS

Great Increase in Immigration—84,800 Acres of Land Taken Up During Month of August

Calgary.—Receipts at the Land Titles office during August of this year amounted to $11,600 against $7,770 for the corresponding period last year, which is an increase in the receipts of $3,830, or over 50 per cent. During the month just drawing to a close there were 122 immigrants registered at the immigration hall, which is very nearly twice the number registered in the same month last year.

The bank clearings for August were $13,052,196 as compared with $8,259,216, an increase of $4,792,980 or 57.79 per cent.

The land office returns which compare favorably with those of last year, show that during the month 84,800 acres of land were taken up. This is made up as follows: Homesteads, 143; homesteads and pre-emptions, 178; pre-emptions, 21; purchased homesteads, 10.

The customs returns also show their usual increase, the returns this month being over 65 per cent. more than they were for August, 1909. In figures, the 1909 returns amount to $53,730.67, while the approximate figures for August, 1910, are $84,000. The increase in entries is about 50 per cent.

MAY BE AFTER A CONTRACT

"Tim, Pat and Jack," Railroad Contractors Foregather in Winnipeg

Winnipeg.—Timothy Foley, of St. Paul, and Patrick Welch, of Spokane, registered at the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Mr. Foley came direct from St. Paul, while Mr. Welch came from Fort Francis, John Stewart, the third member of the trinity of "Tim, Pat and Jack" who are best known under the firm name of Foley, Welch & Stewart, the big railroad contractors, is expected to arrive in the city within a day or two from the Pacific coast where he has for the past two years been in charge of the big contract with the Grand Trunk Pacific on the first section of the transcontinental line east from Prince Rupert.

The meeting of the three partners in Winnipeg is understood to be in connection with a further contract with the G. T. P. which will have to do with a part of the four hundred miles of line on the mountain section for which contracts have not yet been let. Mr. Foley and Mr. Welch were not talking for publication, but they stated that they would remain in the city until Mr. Stewart had arrived. Further than that they had nothing to say at the time.

CHANGE C. N. R. ROUTE

Construction Will be Commenced Immediately and Finished by Fall of 1911

Ottawa.—A change in the plans of the Canadian Northern railway for its line between Toronto and Ottawa, is announced by local officials of the company. As a result of the purchase by Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann of the Bay of Quinte railway, they state that the construction of the line to Ottawa will be begun almost immediately and finished by the fall of 1911, much sooner than was expected.

The road will be built from Toronto to Trenton by Christmas. From Trenton it will be extended to Deseronto and thence by the Bay to Quinte line to Sydenham which place is ninety-two miles from Ottawa.

By the end of 1915 it is expected to have Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto linked in a continuous Canadian Northern system.

GETS PAPER FROM CANADA

Lord Northcliffe Inspects Pulp Mills That Supply Harmsworth Publications

Quebec.—Lord Northcliffe, the London publisher, accompanied by a party of friends, is here en route for a visit to his properties in Newfoundland in his steam yacht, The Zenaida, of the Royal Yacht squadron. They came from New York via Montreal. The object of Lord Northcliffe's visit is to inspect the plant of the Newfoundland Development company, which is supplying the paper and pulp for the Harmsworth publications from the Newfoundland forests. It is expected that later on Earl Grey will join the Northcliffe party when he returns from his explorations in Hudson Bay country.

MAPLE LEAF LONG AN EMBLEM

Was Recognized Badge of Canada as Early as 1858, Says Veteran Chaplain

London.—Stewart Patterson, senior chaplain of the Red river expedition of 1870, writes to the press that the maple leaf was the recognized emblem of Canada long before 1860, the date claimed for its first recognition. On the initiative of the late Dr. Richardson, of Toronto, he as secretary of the Association of Peterboro, in 1858, designed a badge on which there was a wreath of maple leaves. He also wrote verses mentioning the maple leaf as ranking it with the rose, shamrock and thistle.

First Shooting Accident

Winnipeg, Man.—The first tragedy of the duck shooting season, which opened in Manitoba, is reported from Baldur, Manitoba, where Allan Johnson, son of J. L. Johnson, aged 23, was fatally shot by a gun in the hands of his younger brother, the charge entering his stomach. The gun was supposed to be unloaded.

TREES FOR PRAIRIES

DOMINION HORTICULTURALIST ON TREE PLANTING

Prof. Macoun Speaks in Enthusiastic Manner of His Work—No Reason Why the Prairie Farms Should Not Be among the Most Beautiful in the World—Apple Growing on the Western Plains.

Winnipeg.—"The farms on the prairies ought to be as beautiful as any in the world." The speaker was Prof. W. T. Macoun, Dominion horticulturalist, who has just completed a tour of the government experimental farms in the west. His appointment is a new one created this year. He was formerly horticulturalist at the experimental farm at Ottawa, and the work of inspecting the branch farms throughout Canada was accomplished by Dr. Saunders, the superintendent, but in future these important duties will be undertaken by each of the specialists.

Professor Macoun has just visited the experimental farms at Brandon, Indian Head, Rosthern, Scott, Lacombe, Lethbridge, and Agassiz, B.C.

Among the most interesting experiments being conducted on the prairie farms are those with fruit trees. A variety of apples has been evolved by Dr. Saunders that thrives well on the prairies, and plums flourish readily under the conditions that are so favorable to wheat. It has also been proved that many of the most beautiful annuals and perennials among the flowers will grow luxuriantly on the prairies, and it was this fact that caused the professor to make the statement that commences this article. Many ornamental trees and shrubs can also be grown, and the visitor believed that in the future the prosperous prairie farmer would make his home a little paradise set amidst beautiful flowers and shrubs.

Asked about the crop, the professor thought it was going to be far better than was generally supposed.

Around Regina and Indian Head and the country in that locality is one great wheat field, and the yield is to be a record one in abundance. At Indian Head Angus McKay secured "fifty-four bushels to the acre, a record for that part of the country."

Like other experts who have passed through, Professor Macoun thought the dry season had provided a striking demonstration of the importance and effectiveness of good farming. At many places throughout the west the striking spectacle was seen of a good field of wheat side by side with grain that would scarcely pay for the trouble of threshing.

Horticulture runs in the Macoun blood: the professor is the son of Professor John Macoun, who explored the prairies for the Dominion government in 1872. It was largely his favorable reports that first aroused any considerable interest in this part of Canada.

MAGISTRATE HAS CLOSE CALL

Explores Strike District and Bullets Whiz Dangerously Near His Person

New York.—Magistrate Higginbotham, of the Bedford avenue court, entertained the idea that in handling the rioting cases developing at the Williamsburg refinery of the sugar trust, it might be well to obtain some local color and glean some first-hand information. When in the strike zone trouble broke out between the strikers and strike-breakers and two bullets whizzed uncomfortably close to Magistrate Higginbotham. So close were the missiles to the magistrate's head that the police think an attempt was made to kill him.

CRIPPEN IS IN HOSPITAL

Is Suffering From Nervous Reaction—Charge Against Miss Leneve to be Dropped

London.—Crippen is in the hospital of Brixton prison. His illness is said to be not serious but to be due to the nervous reaction following the strain he has undergone.

It is not likely that the charge of murder against Miss Leneve will be proceeded with further.

Arthur Newton says that Crippen has explained the meaning of the card with the farewell message found on him and also the statements he made to Dew. Newton thinks the explanation satisfactory.

SCHEDULE TO BE ENLARGED

Record of Mortality, Disability and Compensation Will be Taken Next July

Ottawa.—The date for the next census for mortality, disability and compensation is the first of July of next year, which is the same as for population. Personal description of every person who has died in the year or suffered disability, accident or sickness, and has received compensation therefor, is required in the schedule, which it is hoped to make very complete. It is estimated that it will require eight thousand enumerators to take the census.

Gleichen Candidate

Calgary, Alta.—A. J. McArthur has been selected as the government candidate in the Gleichen bye-election caused by the resignation of E. H. Riley, who was elected on the Liberal ticket. Mr. Riley will probably stand again as an independent.

HOMESTEADERS TAKE UP LAND

At the Calgary Land Office 112 Quarter Sections Were Disposed of to Intending Settlers

Calgary.—The government of the Dominion of Canada entered into an agreement last week with a number of homesteaders to give them an absolutely free title to 112 quarter sections of land at the expiration of three years, should they fulfil the requirements of the regulations in regard to residence and cultivation.

This represents almost 18,000 acres of land, or about seven-ninths of a township. The land is north of the Red Deer river.

Although some of those who had waited all night did not secure the places to which they considered they were entitled in the line-up, there was very little grumbling.

Most of those who filed had made several selections of land before they came here, and, in the event of their first choice being taken before they reached the counter, they still had other homesteads on which they could file, and were not forced to go away disappointed.

The staff of the lands office were kept very busy receiving applications and answering inquiries in regard to land.

"It was the most orderly rush of homesteaders we have had in the past two years, considering the circumstances," said J. R. Sutherland, Dominion lands agent, "and they were a superior class of settlers."

"Of course, there was a little grumbling by a few, but after they saw that we were carrying out the regulations and could not act otherwise than we were doing, they appeared quite satisfied."

"Considerable improvement has recently been made in the interior of the lands office, to facilitate the transaction of business, and more applicants can now be waited on in the course of a day than formerly."

C.N.R.'S PRESIDENT IN CALGARY

Mr. Mackenzie and City Authorities Will Discuss Matters of Mutual Interest on Thursday

Calgary.—Stating that President Mackenzie of the Canadian Northern Railway would be in this city this week and that he desires to confer with the city council respecting the entrance of the road into the city, Mayor Jamieson received a wire from General Manager McLeod, of the C. N. R.

Thursday was the day mentioned by Mr. McLeod as the most suitable day for the president to talk business with the Calgary city council. It is not known just exactly what points Mr. Mackenzie is desirous of discussing, but the city council has already arranged for a special meeting, and he will be given an opportunity of stating whatever he may want to say at the meeting.

DELIVERING THIS YEAR'S GRAIN

Great Quantities of Wheat Being Delivered Now by the Farmers

Winnipeg.—From Aug. 1 to Aug. 27, both days inclusive, 1,888,950 bushels of wheat were shipped by C. P. R. to the elevators at Fort William. Of this amount 446,250 bushels, mostly No. 1 northern, was threshed this year. During the same period last year 484,050 bushels of wheat were delivered at the elevators at the head of the lakes by the C.P.R., about 100,000 bushels of which was harvested last year. Great quantities of 1909 wheat is being delivered now by the farmers. The unusual quantity of wheat being delivered from this year's harvest is due to the unusual earliness of the season this year. Up to the present the sample and yield has been normal.

TERRIBLE DEATH IN MACHINERY

Was Caught in Shafting and Whirled Round at a Fearful Velocity

Edmonton.—Burt Wendel, employed at P. Anderson & Co.'s brick yard, Strathcona, to look after the belting and machinery, was caught in the shafting and whirled round at a fearful velocity. The force of his body broke a six by two, and an eight by two plank, and two 1-in. steam pipes. When the machinery was stopped his body was hanging over the shaft. He was removed to the hospital where he died. His right leg was frightfully mangled, both knees dislocated, the heel of the left foot torn off, and the base of his skull fractured. An inquest was held. The coroner's jury found that death was due to being caught in an improperly safeguarded shaft.

BADEN-POWELL FOOLS TORONTO

He Jumps Off Train at Parkdale, While Crowd Waits At Union Station

Toronto.—Major-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell was long ago dubbed "Back Door" by Tommy Atkins, because of his habit of appearing on the scene unheralded and by an unexpected route. The general justified the nickname when he disappointed a large reception committee and 10,000 people who were at the union station to welcome him.

The hero of Mafeking climbed out of the train at Parkdale and took a street car across town to Mr. Osler's residence in Rosedale, where he is a guest while in the city. Capt. Train, the general staff officer and Baden-Powell's fifteen English boy scouts came through to the union depot.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XI.—THIRD QUARTER, FOR SEPT. 11, 1910

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxii, 1-14. Memory Verses, 8, 9—Golden Text, Matt. xxii, 14—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson on the parable of the marriage feast is found only here, but the parable of the great supper in Luke xiv has similar teaching, though that seems to have been spoken because one had said, "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God." Both of the parables teach us, among other things, the utter intolerance of men to the things of God, whether it be to the kingdom or to the marriage of the king. The marriage of Adam, who in Luke iii, 38, is called the son of God and which we are told in Eph. v, 31, 32, was typical of Christ and the church, has in it many truths. The building of Eve from a part of Adam taken from him as he slept, her being brought to him when completed, their name being called Adam (Gen. v, 2), the dominion given to them, are all suggestive of the building of the church out of Christ by virtue of His death and resurrection, the rapture of the church when she shall have been completed, the marriage of the Lamb according to Rev. xix and the kingdom and dominion over the whole earth, which is to be ours with Him. The other brides of Scripture, such as Rebecca, Asenath, Zipporah and Ruth, are also typical of many things which will only be clearly and fully seen in the kingdom after the marriage of the Lamb.

How very suggestive the story of Abraham's servant entrusted with the care of all his master's wealth, which he had given to his only son, going forth to seek a bride for that son. How prominent the question becomes as we think of our lesson for today.

"Wilt thou go with this man?" (Gen. xxiv, 58.) Then think of Rebecca becoming possessor of Isaac and of all that he had, but best of all an inheritor with him of all the covenant promises of God. Think what she would have missed if she had not said "I will go." See Ruth rewarded for cleaving to Naomi by becoming joint possessor of the field in which she had wearily gleaned and also by becoming an ancestress of David and of the Lord Jesus Christ. Have you anointed eyes to see these things and many more? If not go quickly to Him who has the eye-salve, that thou mayest see (Rev. iii, 18).

The loving heart of the King is not discouraged. He so longs to have these people know Him, that He may bless them, that He sends forth other servants with a more pressing invitation and with the assurance that all things are ready. He has prepared everything. They have only to "come unto the marriage." But they made light of it and went their ways to their own affairs (verses 4, 5), or, as in Mark xii, 12, "They left Him and went their way," or, as in Luke xiv, 18, "They all with one consent began to make excuse." But all this is mild compared with verse 6 of our lesson, where we read that they took His servants, entreated them spitefully and slew them. Can we wonder that He was then speaking about (A. D. 70), but He who could look forward forty years could as easily look forward to the end of this age and all the ages. See in chapter xxv, 41, that which will just as literally come to pass for some despisers. How great is the unbelief prevailing to-day concerning these things, but the day of the Lord will come. As truly as the deluge came upon the world in the days of Noah and the fire in the days of Lot upon the cities of the plain, so shall all come upon the ungodly that the Scriptures have foretold. The "not worthy" of verse 8 must be read in the light of such a passage as Acts xiii, 46, "Ye judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life." No one can be worthy of the grace of God. It is for the ungodly, for sinners, and those who come are never cast out, but those who refuse the invitation are said to count themselves unworthy of it. When we have accepted the gracious invitation, then by His grace we should walk worthy of God, who hath called us to His kingdom and glory (I Thess. ii, 12).

By the diligence of other servants enough good and bad are gathered to furnish the needed guests, reminding us of the net of chapter xxi, 47, 48, which gathered of every kind, but there came a time of separation of good and bad, and so it will be. One was found among the guests who had not on a wedding garment, implying that wedding garments were provided for all the guests, but this one, representing many, thought his own clothing sufficient and had evidently refused the proffered garment. Just as Cain refused the way of the Lord, preferring his own way, and was refused by the Lord, so all who think their own righteousness sufficient and refuse the righteousness provided by God in Christ shall be compelled to hear the awful "Depart from me" and shall find themselves forever cast out from His presence. Of the many who are called only few are chosen simply because few are willing to be chosen.

THE MARKETS

Flax still remains a good figure and should be a very profitable crop. A comparative large area is under flax this year in the Trochu very promising it will be noticed that flax has risen five cents.

TROCHU IETMS

From the Calgary Herald

Crop conditions have improved wonderfully during the past month

It is learned from authoritative quarters that the G. T. P. townsite will be placed on the market this fall a great demand for lots is expected both from local and out de quarters. Grading operations are proceeding very rapidly and it is believed that the trains will be running rather sooner than anticipated.
Great headway has been made during the past few months.

Business in this district has been generally good this year and shows a considerable increase over all previous years. The Trochu Valley creamery has again increased its output and will easily retain its position as the third creamery in Alberta. The Royal Hotel which received its license on August 20 has been completely refitted and refurnished throughout.

Several thousand acres of land have been broken up by the steam plough outfits this summer and it is estimated that the increase of acreage under cultivation next year over this will be at least 100 per cent

Correspondence

To The Editor of the Trochu Times

As a member of the Trochu Rifle Club I have a complaint to make. On several occasions I have been desirous of practicing but have not been able to do so owing to the fact that there was not a large enough number of members present. Can the officials of the club suggest any remedy for this state of affairs? I may add that the occasion to which I refer were on the days announced for official shoots. I fail to see how the club is complying with the government regulations in the matter. Attendance at the range in my opinion ought to be compulsory to a certain degree

INTESTINAL PARALYSIS

"Fruit-a-tives" The Only Medicine That Will Really Cure Constipation.

The Liver both causes and cures Obstinate Constipation or Paralysis of the Bowels.

When the Liver becomes torpid or weak, then it cannot give up enough Bile to move the Bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" acts directly on the liver and makes the liver strong and active.

By curing the liver, "Fruit-a-tives" enables this important organ to give off sufficient Bile to move the bowels regularly and naturally, and thus cure "Intestinal Paralysis."

"Fruit-a-tives" is made of fruit juices and tonics and is undoubtedly the only medicine ever discovered that will positively cure Constipation in any form.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c, or may be obtained from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

In the treatment of summer complaints, the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

ARMY SWINDLERS.

How Crooked "Rookies" Do Up the Recruiting Officers.

Britain is happily free of the press-gang to-day, the army is no longer crowded with professional rogues, and idlers cannot exist now by taking the "King's shilling"—and their "hook" at the same time; nevertheless there is in England to-day a regular army of shady gentry who live by duping recruiting-sergeants and regimental authorities. The soldier has only one name for such—"fraud," and, being a good judge of character, he usually readily recognizes the type (even when his superiors have failed to do so) by the "fraud's" furtive ways, his knowledge of arms and equipment, and particularly of other regiments, his squared shoulders and rhythmical step, his shifty eyes and clean-shaven face, and, above all, his amazing skill in reckoning up accounts.

But that superiors are not so apt at detection was proved the other day, when a misdemeanant staggered a magistrate by confessing that he had served in no fewer than seventeen regiments, and not more than six months in any one! The ingenuity and resource of some of these professional "frauds" would, undoubtedly earn them distinction if applied to some virtuous pursuit; they can boast of twisting "recruiting sergeants round their fingers." How do they profit? Well, when a recruit has been passed for the army and finally sworn in he is entitled to a day's pay and ration allowance (1s. 6d. altogether), and if he appears to be well-spoken, well-dressed, or with friends near, he is usually paid this amount by the recruiting-officer and given his liberty until the time to entrain for his regiment. Needless to say, the "fraud," having entailed altogether an expense of from 12s. to 14s. in his enlistment, is rarely seen again after he has received his pay.

But more experienced "frauds" do much better on the deal. They either ask to be enlisted for a regiment situated in some town they are desirous of reaching, pocket the "traveling allowance," and, having come to the end of their free journey, elude the sergeant waiting for them owing to his ignorance of their appearance; or else they ask to be enlisted for some regiment situated at the greatest possible distance from the recruiting office, because the amount of traveling allowance (which is in addition to pay, etc.) depends upon this. A "fraud" may thus make in a day 1s. as pay, 6d. as ration allowance, and 1s. 4d. as traveling allowance, and, needless to say, having been seen safely in the train by the recruiting-sergeant, he seizes the first chance of escaping, unless he has good reasons for reaching any particular station on the route.

But some clever "frauds" dupe more than one recruiting-sergeant in a day; and often a man who has been enlisted, say, at Sheffield for a regiment in Leeds will, on arrival at the latter station, dupe the recruiting authorities there in the same way, and gain another free ticket back to Sheffield, or to any other town he wishes to reach. Little wonder, then, that the authorities are considering some plan of identification, one country having adopted branding to stop ruses of this sort, whilst the United States recently started a system of finger-print identification.

Sometimes, however, the "fraud" has a much deeper-laid scheme. He reaches his regiment all right, and then elaborately acts so as to lead his superiors astray. He betrays the most consummate ignorance of army ways, invariably saluting with the wrong hand, making the wrong "turnings" at drill, calling corporals "sir," putting his equipment on wrong side to the front, saluting sergeants, and so on, until all thought of his having served before is dismissed. And then he amazes by his rapid learning and obsequious attentions, and is readily granted the furlough of three weeks or a month for which he specially applies. This means the payment of a sum (for the latter period) of from £2 5s. to £2 15s., as furlough money, and as he leaves (for good, of course) in the very best kit he can get together at Government expense, the sale of this will probably realize another 10s. or 15s.

A Thrice-Given Turkey.

A popular minister in Fifeshire, in the good old times, used at Christmas to be inundated with hampers filled with good things.

On one occasion an enormous turkey was sent to him by the thoughtful kindness of a member of his congregation, a neighboring farmer; but, as the minister's family had already provided for the Christmas dinner, the bird was sent to the market and sold.

A passer-by, seeing this fine specimen of poultry, said, "What a splendid turkey! Just the thing for the minister's Christmas dinner!" To the minister it was again sent.

The provident wife sent it off again to the market, where it was once more disposed of for a handsome sum.

Another friend, similarly struck with the splendid proportions of the turkey, purchased it and sent it to the minister. The good woman, not wishing to fly in the face of Providence, said at last:

"It is clear that this turkey was meant for us"; and with the approbation of the family it formed part of the Christmas dinner.

An Aged Traveler.

After living to the ripe old age of 90 years without having taken a railway journey of any distance, Mrs. Thomas Bickell, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Jane Shaw, at 49 Murray street, Toronto, started recently to visit relatives in New Westminster and San Francisco.

Although at such an advanced age, Mrs. Bickell is still hale and hearty, and remembers distinctly incidents that happened years ago. She remembers seeing Halley's comet on its visit to the earth seventy-five years ago.

Mrs. Bickell, who is accompanied by her niece, has gone to New Westminster, where she is visiting her son, who lives in that city; thence to San Francisco by boat, and will return by way of Kansas City in about five months.

Venerable Artist Dead.

Mr. Samuel Hawksett, one of the best-known portrait painters in the Dominion, died at his residence in Montreal recently. Mr. Hawksett was born in London, Eng., and was in the 83rd year of his age. He was a pupil of his father, who was a famous portrait painter at the Court of King George IV. He came to Canada in 1854, and made the historical painting of "Jacques Cartier Bidding Farewell to the Indians," at present in the picture gallery of Laval University. He has been awarded a diploma by the Quebec Government, and his portraits of the leading citizens of Montreal and elsewhere, adorn the walls of many public institutions and colleges.

REFORM IN BRITISH PRISONS.

Churchill Boldly Does What Many Have Tried to Do.

Right Hon. Winston Churchill, the new English Home Secretary, has, during the few months he has been in office, boldly done what many English prison reformers have been vainly endeavoring to get done for years. This brilliant young politician has announced a series of reforms in the British penitentiary system. It is said that Churchill will do more than mitigate the horrors of solitary imprisonment. He will introduce legislation dealing with offenders between the ages of 16 and 21. Instead of being sent to prison the youths who have not committed serious offenses will be subjected merely to some sort of drill or physical instruction which will be both punitive and salutary. This reform, it is believed, will save 5,000 lads from prison every year.

There will be changes in the treatment of political offenders, including suffragists. They will enjoy many privileges. Prison clothes need not be worn. There will be no compulsory baths, no search, no hair-cutting and no cell-cleaning.

Free exercise with the right of conversation will be permitted twice daily, also visits from friends, and books not dealing with current events may be read. Lectures or concerts will be given four times a year in the convict prisons throughout the country.

Whistler's Frugality.

Whistler was extremely frugal and abstemious. He ate and drank most moderately of the plainest fare. He liked dainty dishes and a rare old wine, but had a horror of the "groaning board" at huge set feasts and formal banquets. He could cook quite decently himself and sometimes made an omelet or scrambled eggs, but these culinary feats I never saw performed. His famous Sunday luncheons were always late in being served, outrageously delayed without apparent cause. It was no uncommon thing for us to wait an hour or even two for the eggs, fish, cutlets and a sweet dish, or which the meal consisted, says a recent writer.

A bottle of very ordinary white wine was our only drink. The whole thing was an "arrangement"—just a color scheme in yellows to match his "blue and white" old porcelain and his blue and yellow dining-room.

His furniture was limited to the bare necessities, and frequently too few of those. Indeed, some wit made what he called his standing joke about poor Jimmy's dearth of seats, and once I heard Dick (Corney) Grain say, when shaking hands before a Sunday luncheon, "Ah, Jimmy, glad to see you playing to such a full house!" glaring around the studio with his large, protruding eyes in search of something to sit on.

"What do you mean?" said Whistler. "Standing room only," replied the actor.

Another Huge Gem.

A report has reached London, from Johannesburg, South Africa, of the finding of another large diamond in the Premier mine. The gem is said to weigh more than 191 carats, and is described as a pure white stone, absolutely flawless and measuring two inches long by three-fourths of an inch thick. It tapers in breadth from one and one-fourth inches to three-fourths of an inch at the smallest and is valued at $150,000 uncut.

The Premier mine became world famous in January, 1905, when the Cullinan diamond was discovered there. This gem, the largest ever found, weighed 3,032 carats in the rough. It was cut into smaller stones and presented to King Edward VII. by the Transvaal Government. The latest large diamond to be found taken from the Premier mine probably will rank also among the world's famous gems.

An English View of Hardy.

Mr. Thomas Hardy is seventy years of age, and we are pleased to know that he has not yet ended his work. Mr. Hardy is the only great man of letters we have in England to-day. We have men of good gifts and choice gifts, and we have plenty of talent and bits of genius, but that is all. Save him, all the great writers are dead in this country, and, what is more, there is no sure promise of anybody to take the place of the poets and novelists and historians who were still living and working less than a generation ago. "Will great originality be born again?" one may almost wonder with Renan. At any rate, its birth is being deferred and deferred.—London Saturday Review.

His Seventy-Sixth Harvest.

An old man named Daniel Gumbrell has been haymaking in Surrey fields for the seventy-sixth yearly season in succession, and for the same family of employers—that of Mr. Arthur Trower, of Wiggie, Redhill. He commenced working for Mr. Trower's grandfather in the reign of William IV, at the age of nine, and has remained in the same service ever since.

All Dumb But the Parson.

A remarkable wedding has taken place at St. Leonards, Eng. The bridegroom (Mr. Dann, a popular Hastings sculler), the bride (Miss Corps, of St. Leonards), the bride's brother, who gave her away, and Mr. Holley, of London, who acted as best man, were all deaf and dumb. Mr. Sleight, from the Deaf and Dumb School, Brighton, where the bride was educated, acted as interpreter at the ceremony.

Experimenting Cost $100 $1.00 Paid for the Cure

Rheumatism Disappeared When the Poisons Were Removed From the System by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Experiments are sometimes necessary and almost always expensive. It is usually wise to let others do the experimenting and profit by their experience.

When it is a matter of regulating the liver, kidneys and bowels and driving out of the system the poisons which cause rheumatism, backache, lumbago and other pains and aches, experience has proven that Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills are the most effective treatment available.

They are different from ordinary kidney medicines in that they regulate the liver and bowels, as well as the kidneys, and in this way get at the very source of trouble.

Let others experiment if they will. This letter shows what experimenting cost one man, and many have had somewhat similar experience.

Mr. James Clarke, Maidstone, Sask.,

writes: "I have great pleasure in testifying to the good results I have obtained by using Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. For four years I suffered from rheumatism in my shoulders and back and could not lift my arms above my head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies. Lots of them were to be sure cures, but none of them gave me relief.

"I was then persuaded to use Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills and soon found relief. By following up this treatment a thorough cure was brought about and for six months I have been free from rheumatism. It cost me at least one hundred dollars in experimenting before using Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, which cured me at the cost of 25 cents a box."

You can be sure of definite, beneficial results when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

SOFT, WHITE HANDS

May be Obtained in One Night.

For preserving the hands as well as for preventing redness, roughness, and chapping and imparting that velvety softness much desired by women Cuticura Soap and assisted by Cuticura Ointment, is believed to be superior to all other skin soaps. For those who work in corrosive liquids, or at occupations which tend to injure the hands, it is invaluable.

One Night Treatment.—Bathe and soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment. Wear during the night old loose gloves, to protect the clothing from stain. For red, rough, and chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, and shapeless nails with painful finger ends, this treatment is most effective.
